With an Expanded Lead, Dr. Hiral Tipirneni Debuts New Ad “People First”

Dr. Tipirneni highlights her promise to always put the people of AZ-06 first PHOENIX, AZ - Dr. Hiral Tipirneni, candidate for Arizona’s Sixth Congressional District, released a new 30-second ad to contrast her ethical integrity with her corrupt opponent, David Schweikert, and his history of misbehavior. Earlier this summer, the five-term incumbent was unanimously reprimanded on the floor of the United States House for eleven ethics violations.

The contrast between Tipirneni and her opponent could not be more pronounced. Schweikert spent a decade misusing taxpayer dollars, accepting illegal campaign contributions, abusing his Congressional staff, and hiding campaign finance activity, among other violations. Hiral, on the other hand, spent ten years serving her community as an emergency room physician, always prioritizing the wellbeing of her patients and their families. As a doctor, she took an oath to put her patients first, and she’ll do the same in Congress.

“My opponent’s unapologetic misuse of taxpayer dollars is a slap in the face to the people of this district and demonstrates his complete disregard for their wellbeing,” said Dr. Hiral Tipirneni. “In Congress, I will fight for Arizona families on the issues that impact their daily lives. While my self-serving opponent hung them out to dry for almost ten years, I’ll show up on day one ready to protect their healthcare coverage, safeguard their Social Security benefits, and lower the cost of their prescription drugs.”

David Schweikert pledged to fight corruption, but he became part of the problem. Schweikert was found guilty on eleven counts and used his Congressional staff to pay for his dry cleaning, to babysit, and to fly first class.

When a politician puts himself first, the rest of us get left behind. From healthcare to the economy, the oath I took as a doctor is the same I’ll give to you in Congress—to put people first.

I’m Dr. Hiral Tipirneni, and I approve this message.

About Hiral
